The lost teeth of a man or woman The lost teeth of a man or woman can now be restored by the science of dentistry in such a manner that it is impossible, under ordinary circumstances, to detect the restored teeth from the original or natural ones. The Restoration Method is not one of artificial plates, crowns or bridges—that undesirable artificiality is done that undesirable artificiality is done away with—and there is no notice—able evidence of the dentist's work in your mouth. Your restored teeth seem to grow out of your gums just as do your natural teeth. It is a wonderful improvement over the old method of replacing lost teeth with false ones. Dr. King does his Restoration work at a consistently low price. Before having any teeth extracted see Dr. King about naturally and painlessly restor about naturally and painlessly restor-ing your teeth. It Pays.

NO PAIN OPERATING

Painless dentistry in the beginning was not taken seriously; every dental fakir in the country claimed to be a painless dentist, and since they knew painless dentist, and since they knew nothing of painless dentistry, of course, maltreated their patients and made this great science a joke, a thing to be laughed at and ridiculed. In Boston when Dr. King first advertised his system of painless dentistry he had at least twenty-five imitating dental fakirs to contend with. One by one they dropped out or existence, because they could not make good their false claims, until triay he stands alone as the one painless dentist in that city, and, in fact, in Eastern Americs, who practices painless dentistry as a science and who really performs all operations without pain.

Full set teeth $5.00 and up with the "Natural Gums," gold crowns $5.00, bridge work $5.00, painless, pure gold filling $1.00 up, other fillings $50c, painless extraction free when sets are ordered. All work guaranteed.

NOANK

Marcellus Orne to Address Fishermen Continues of -Lobster Question Paramount Interest.

How the License Matter is Regarded.

While there may be one or two of the local fishermen, not members of the association, who are bringing in egg lobsters to the local hatchery, the majority are throwing the fish back into the sea, and are being encouraged in doing so by the fishermen all along the shores of Connecticut and Rhode Island.

One fishermen said Friday: "If you do not think that the people of the state are with us, look at this from a New Haven newspaper." The article reads: "The state of Connecticut is seeking to maintain at Noank a state hatchery for lobsters. It is under the control and management, of course, of the state fish commission, and its location in Noank, one of the great lobster producing towns on this coast, is fixed by the fact that there is the best possible place to get egg-bearing lobsters. For there is an arrangement with the lobster fishermen, by which they furnish, at the best possible prices, egg-bearing lobsters from their catches to the lobster fathermen, by which they furnish, at the best possible prices, egg-bearing lobsters from their catches to the lobster hatchery. Whether or not the institution at Noank is successful in producing new lobsters for Connecticut practical men doubt, Noank, however, is a nice shore place in the summer, and the pay a license for fishing in New York waters. The Connecticut commissioners propose to force them to pay a further license for—something, perhaps storing their catches in Conecticut waters. The fishermen fall to see where they get their money back for this license. They are skeptical as to the possible use to their industry to the Connecticut hatchery. They flatly say that in their belief egg-bearing lobsters are better left on bearing lobsters are better left on their natural ground, and are willing to sacrifice the sale of them to the hatchery. They will, hereafter, they agree, throw them overboard, and re-fuse to bring them ashore."

Noank Wants Policeman. There was a rumor Friday that means were to be taken whereby the means were to be taken whereby the selectmen would place a night patrolman on the streets of the viliage. Many acts of vandalism and the several robberies that have been carried out with success in the past, demonstrates the fact that someone is needed on the streets to keep order, preserve property and prevent stealing. Some five years ago Noank enjoyed peace; seldom if ever, did the people have cause to complain, but at that time there was a patrolman who kept order, but was later released by a vote of the town for some reason. the heathen world.

The figures that deal with this proposed movement are something that even the lay mind will stop a bit to ponder. To begin with, the Laymen's missionary movement proposes to evangelize the world within this generation. That this will be no small undertaking one need only observe these figures, furnished by the Laymen's missionary movement.

Of the world's entire population of 1.500,000,000 only 500,000,000 or one-third are Christians. Now to fulfill the vow taken by the movement will require money, and much of it. The statisticians of the movement have figured that it will require about $55,000,000 annually to do the work. This means $1,925,000,000 to be spent in the next 35 years to evangelize the

Can this be done? The Laymen's missionary movement says that it can, and on May 3 they will open their first national congress in Chicago to discuss plans for carrying on this worldwide campaign against heathenism. About 4.500 representative men coming from every state in the Union will attend this congress, to be held in the Auditorium.—New Haven Times Leader.

Lesson From the Germans.

The British merchant has just been telling the Bristish public, pat and plain, that German's commercial and industrial progress is steady, continu-ous, triumphant. The German, deous, triumphant. The German, declares this expert observer, may be slow, but he is deadly sure. There is no hustle in his method; it is simply a genius for taking pains. As specialists in the industrial arts and handicrafts the German have achieved an excellence that assures them a monopoly in many lines of manufacture of a commodity that is surpassingly well done, is quite often effective in killing off competition in the production of that particular commodity. Perfection in the heads of dolls, means the control of an andustry that enters into world commerce.

in the deaus of doins, means the control of an industry that enters into world commerce.

Americans, even more than the English, may profit by studying closely German technical methods and by cultivating the Teutonic genius for taking palns. Americans, generally, have a phenomenal capacity for hustle; they have been accustomed to go at whatever they undertake with an impulsive energy which is so intent upon achieving results that, too frequently, the thing to be done has not been as well done as it should have been. America, however, is taking note of German methods. We have at least waked up in this country to the im-
